Mount Pleasant Meeting House

WILMINGTON, DELAWARE

PROPERTY HISTORY

*W*armth emanates from the sanctuary of the restored 19th-century meetinghouse. The original amber windows and curved walnut pews provide an inviting atmosphere for your guests.

This tranquil and understated property was once a house of worship and gathering place for some of Delaware's most influential individuals.

HOSPITALITY
WITH A NATURAL DIFFERENCE

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, the Mount Pleasant Meeting House is a restored sanctuary and parsonage that provides a serene and simple setting for special ceremonies, intimate events and unique occasions. The parsonage's Victorian-decorated parlor offers a unique waiting room for bridal parties and guests of honor. Both the parsonage and the meeting house are situated on the grounds of Bellevue State Park.
